CONTENTS BURN

Co. Clerk's Home and Furniture A Total Loss By Fire Tuesday

The home of County Clerk Verage and all his furniture, in the town of Pine Lake was destroyed by fire the middle of the forenoon, Tuesday. Mr. Verage was at the court house performing his official duties and the children had gone to school when Mrs. Verage discovered that a fire had caught in the roof, but she was equipped to do nothing to extinguish the fire, so the dwelling and household goods were practically all destroyed in a short time.

There was very little insurance, five hundred on the house and three hundred on the furniture. It is certainly an awful blow to burn out at this time of year with so little insurance.

PUBLIC SCHOOL
NEWS OF WEEK

Plant A Garden

Let there be no idle acres in Rhinelander. The most inexcusable of idle acres is the fertile and tended acre that fails to contribute its share to the nation's staple food supply at a time of national need. Everyone now knows the necessity of increasing the food supply for the next year. Every effort must be undertaken to make every bit of land produce all it possibly can this summer. There are in Rhinelander a large number of backyards that have never been made to yield any where near the possible amount of food for their owners. We should see this year that every piece of ground "does its bit" toward the war. Many people have raised small gardens for the purpose of adding to the variety of food on their tables, but few have been cultivated with the idea of getting the utmost possible yield. Now is the time for a change, let every garden be used to its fullest capacity.

The children of the public schools have been studying gardening and for the production of staple foods, vegetables in their classes for the last six weeks. Already they are becoming quite enthusiastic over the idea of cultivating a garden of their own. With a little encouragement from the parents it is possible that this large force for labor can be turned to profitable account in the production of vegetables, not only for pleasure but for profit as well.

Now is the time for cleaning up yards and getting them into shape for use as gardens. There is no element of preparedness so necessary as that which plans a proper and sufficient food supply for the people. Other articles will be given which will suggest the best vegetables to grow.

The committee of the Advancement Association is planning a garden campaign quite similar to the one conducted last year. There will be added to the list of gardens, however, those planted and tended by pupils of the schools. Prizes will be given for the best tended garden and the one that produces the largest crop and so on.

Prepare For The Fly

With the advent of summer there come to us many cases of children's diseases. We have in town already one case of infantile paralysis. There is no doubt that a large number of diseases are transmitted by flies. Now is the time to plan a proper reception for the common fly. There are three definite things that may be done. Get down the fly swatter of yesterday and prepare it for quick service. Look over the south windows daily and swat every fly that you can find. There are two chemicals recommended by high authorities as muscicides. They are formaldehyde and sodium salicylate.

A libration for flies may be made in this manner:

"Three teaspoonfuls of either 40% formaldehyde or of powdered sodium salicylate is added to a pint of water. A glass tumbler is nearly filled with one of these solutions, a circular piece of blotting paper is placed over the tumbler and a saucer inverted over that. Then the whole device is inverted and a piece of match stuck under the tumbler to admit air. If there are no children in the household a little sugar may be added. This solution has such an unpleasant taste that not enough of it would be taken to do any harm.

The third thing will be made the subject of a future article.

Saving Daylight Plan

Many places are moving their time an hour ahead for the purpose of utilizing the beautiful morning hours for their labor of the day and releasing an hour in the afternoon for recreation and for the care of gardens. Why would this not be a good plan for Rhinelander.

MUSICAL TREAT

An audience that made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers greeted the Rhinelander City Band Friday at their first formal concert, and those who braved the north wind and rain and snow, and climbed the high hill, were amply repaid for the effort. The programs were very attractively gotten up, having a picture of the band on the first page, on the second the program proper, on the third a synopsis of the "Hunting of the Snark" a humorous symphony, and on the back a roster of the band.

When the curtain rose on the thirty-four men in their handsome new uniforms (or ought we to say thirty-four handsome men in their new uniforms?) they were greeted with hearty applause and gave the Invercargill March with that splendid swing and vigor which always makes us say to ourselves: "Well, after all, there is nothing like a brass band!"

The second number was the Overture "Altair of Genius" and exceedingly well-rendered, receiving an encore, for which the band played "The Officer of the Day," one of the best marching tunes in existence and always popular. Mr. Torgeson's cornet solo was received with storms of applause, which was quite as it should be. As a solo cornetist Mr. Torgeson ranks with the best and his quiet unassuming manner adds to the artistic effect of his music. He also responded to an encore.

The male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Johnson, Nelson, Davidson and Don McRae, made a tremendous hit and to an enthusiastic recall responded with "Asking Papa" in which Mr. Johnson made a very charming girl and Don McRae a very substantial one.

The "Passing of the Red Man" by King, is a descriptive piece of real merit. It gives the weird Indian atmosphere without being too fantastic, and as rendered by the band was poetic and very pleasing. As an encore they gave Sousa's "El Capitan" in a way that made it very difficult to sit still. The "Hunting of the Snark" followed and gave an opportunity for some well rendered trick work: the sliding and sneaking of the Snark and the trembling of the hunters—sounds that appear easy to produce, and in reality take the greatest skill.

The cornet duet by Messrs. Torgeson and Davidson had to be repeated in response to an encore, and the male quartette could have had as many encores as they would give. Their response was a description of the various sorts of women and caused quite a furor of merriment.

The Faust number was, to the writer's mind, the best on the program. It contains the cream of the opera, and is just the right length. The band members seem to like it, too, for they play it better than almost any of their repertoire. "Adair" was the encore for this number.

A really very great tribute was paid to the band, when, after "On Wisconsin", the last number, the entire audience remained seated in mute appeal for more. When Conductor Riek saw that no one was going home, he very kindly responded to this flattering form of encore with Sousa's best march, "King Cotton."

It would seem that the band need no longer feel any doubt as to whether their playing is appreciated. If they can't get the audience to go home when the concert is over, it is a pretty good sign that the concert has been thoroughly enjoyed. J. M. B.

It was my good fortune to attend the concert, given by the Rhinelander City Band, at the High School Auditorium, Friday the 20th inst. and I would like to compliment the band on the good work done. The concert showed careful training of each individual member of the band; the harmony was fine. The cornet duet by Ben Torgeson and Arthur Davidson was rendered in an exceptionally masterful manner.

Rhinelander has every reason to be proud of the Rhinelander City Band.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) A. S. PIERCE.

BASSETT FREED OF LIBEL SUIT

Bert Bassett of Minocqua was acquitted of the charge of libel in municipal court, Saturday under the corrupt practices act.

Thos. Bolger, candidate for chairman of the town of Minocqua, arrested Bassett on the charge, claiming that the article written by Bassett was not true but did lessen his chances for election.

CO. L DANCE AT ARMORY

Proceeds Will Go To Pay
Necessary Expenses

A dancing party will be given Friday evening, April 27, at the Armory under the auspices of Co. L. The proceeds will be used to pay expenses incurred since the boys came home from the south.

There are many expenses connected with the company and the next proceeds of this dance will be used to help pay them. This, is without doubt the last dance under the auspices of the company before their departure from this city. There is a splendid patriotic spirit in the community and we believe the company dance will get most liberal patronage.

TRAINING SCHOOL
NEWS OF WEEK

The third quarter's examinations are completed and we have started the fourth quarter.

The school enjoyed a set of educational slides on agriculture, Thursday.

The Model school is not lacking in patriotism for they have organized a company under the leadership of Capt. Maynard Remo. The girls are in active service as Red Cross nurses.

Hazel Jack spent Sunday with her parents in the town of Pelican. The senior class has elected their class officers and are busy making preparations for commencement.

Principal Mackin and our Agricultural Representative, Mr. Juday, attended a community meeting at the Lassis school Saturday evening. Mr. Juday talked on potatoes and other agricultural products and Principal Mackin showed a set of slides from the State University.

The geography class is planning to visit our local factories. Many people do not realize the numerous things that are manufactured in our county.

The civics class will observe the work of the officers in our local government soon.

RUSSIA LOOKS TO AMERICA FOR AID

Munitions, Money And Rolling
Stocks Are Needed

Money, ammunition and railway rolling stock are the primary necessities for which Russia now is turning to America for assistance in obtaining. If America can help supply us with these," said Paul N. Milukoff, the Russian foreign minister, to the Associated Press on Saturday, "she will not only have added greatly to the services she already has extended to the allies, but will materially help Russia defeat Germany on the eastern front."

"Russia has been crippled during the entire war by lack of facilities for transportation. If the United States can send rolling stock it will help us mobilize the resources of the country to their fullest efficiency."

NEW SETTLERS IN MONICO

Frank C. Martin and family and Mrs. Emma Olson, arrived at Monico Thursday the 19, and will build a new home on section 25 Tp. 36-10 East, located about a mile west of the station of Monico.

Mr. Martin is a young man of unusual ability. He was city salesman for several years in Chicago for the Yale and Towne Lock and Hardware Company, and later years represented that company out of the New York office in the states west and south as far as Texas.

Mr. Martin is fully aware that there are hardships to face in making a start on new land, but after careful thought and much study is fully convinced that a man can grow into agriculture (instead of go into farming), and win.

The community is to be congratulated in securing new neighbors of the social standing and business hustle of the Martins.

A Proclamation

In as much as very unusual conditions confront the American people at the present time on account of the existence of a state of war with the central powers of Europe, it seems wise to take every possible step to avert a situation which, unless it shall be forestalled by most vigorous action, is bound to become more serious as the months go by, and will become extremely acute with the approach of another winter. The food shortage which is world-wide and serious at the present time is certain to become alarming unless the masses of the American people spend their leisure time in planting and maintaining gardens during the coming summer, and thus supplement the efforts of the farmer. In order that townspeople may have time to cultivate gardens it will be necessary to conserve every hour of daylight. With this in view the Council of Defense for Oneida county has urgently recommended that all clocks in the city of Rhinelander be set forward one hour. This recommendation has also received the very cordial endorsement of the managements of the various manufacturing concerns of the city, and is heartily concurred in by members of the Board of Education so far as they have been interviewed. It is pointed out that the proposed plan will greatly facilitate the work of gardening, giving an additional hour in late afternoon for hoeing and cultivating. With the firm belief that this arrangement will meet with the most cordial support of laboring men in general, many of whom will have large gardens to plant and cultivate, I hereby proclaim that at six (6) o'clock, Sunday evening, April 29th, all time-pieces in the city of Rhinelander will be set ahead one hour, said arrangement to be effective until six (6) o'clock Sunday evening, Sept. 30, 1917.

That this plan may attain a maximum of success it will be necessary to have the cooperation of every business concern in Rhinelander. I, therefore urge upon all a cordial willingness to cooperate in this time of grave national necessity.

GRANT V. CLARK,
Mayor.

STANDARD OIL CONTROLS GAS

Arbitrary Raising of Prices
Is Charged in Report of Federal Trade Com.

Arbitrary raising of prices of gasoline as a result of domination of the gasoline industry by Standard Oil interests is charged in the report of the federal trade commission on Tuesday, announcing the results of its special investigation of this branch of the oil industry. Legal action against the Standard Oil company may be renewed as a consequence of the commission's finding. The dissolution of the oil company, which had been decreed by the supreme court, is found by the commission to be imperfect, inasmuch as interlocking directorates prevent real competition between the various Standard Oil branches.

Figures compiled by the commission show that during 1915 the increase in demand for gasoline was 38 per cent. But that in the same year prices rose between 75 and 85 per cent. More light on these facts is thrown by large earnings as revealed in the Standard Oil books and by the increased value of Standard securities.

Other findings of the commission are that the combination of pipe lines with other branches of the industry has tended to establish and perpetuate monopoly, and that gasoline has deteriorated in quality, a variety of products being sold under that name.

Recommendations made by the commission, "with a view to preventing or remedying the conditions," include the abolition, by legislation, in certain cases, of common stock ownership in corporations which have been members of a combination dissolved under the Sherman law, the segregation of pipe line ownership from other branches of the petroleum industry and the fixing by congressional legislation of gasoline standards."

ENJOYABLE TIME HAD AT DANCE

The dance at the Armory Friday night given by the Union of Sulphite Workers of the paper mill was well attended. There were about one hundred twenty-five couples. All report an excellent time. The Hazel M. Crawford orchestra furnished the music.

CO. DEFENSE MEMBERS MEET

The members of the county committee of Defense met at the county court house Monday evening and organized with Ira E. Smith, chairman, and elected District Attorney O'Melia as secretary. E. O. Brown was added to the committee. W. D. Juday, E. A. Forbes, E. O. Brown, and F. A. Lowell were chosen as a committee to investigate what seeds are needed for planting, also to find out the surplus for distribution according to the needs of the farmer and so far as possible to make arrangements for supplying these needs to the end that Oneida county shall put forth its greatest efforts in the production of food stuffs.

Crowds Line Streets And

American capital on Sunday extended a simple but heartfelt welcome to the British minister for foreign affairs, Arthur J. Balfour, and the other members of the British mission which has come to Washington, as Mr. Balfour expressed it, "to make co-operation easy and effective between those who are striving to bring about a lasting peace by the only means that can secure it—namely, a successful war."

The weather was perfect, and Washington, clad in the light green foliage of the season, never looked more beautiful than Sunday afternoon when the special train which had brought the distinguished visitors from the north drew into the Union station. Everywhere bunting flew in the light breeze, mainly the national colors. The union jack and the French tricolor were in evidence in many places, but the local flagmakers had been unable to meet the public demand for them.

No Music For Visitors

There was no music to greet the visitors, the original plan, including the presence of the Marine band, having been amended to conform to the view expressed by President Wilson and Secretary Lansing that this was a grave and serious event and not to be lightly treated or regarded as a social and festive affair.—Exchange.

At the gun club meet Sunday it was the winning for the young married men. Harold Grosby won twenty-two with a possible twenty-five. T. J. We hope this will not inspire some of the unmarried young men belonging to the club to seek wedlock, because at this particular time they might be called slackers.

MEET IN IRONWOOD, MICH.

The Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Superior Conference, consisting of more than 70 churches and mission fields within northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan, will hold its yearly meeting all of next week including Sunday, May 6. The meeting will be held in Ironwood, Michigan, this year. Rev. C. A. Lund of Escanaba, Mich., is president of this conference; Rev. Carl Silfversten of this city is secretary and Mr. Albin Hasselblad of Ishpeming is treasurer. August Carlson of this city is a member of its executive board and will together with Rev. Silfversten leave early next Monday morning for Ironwood. Mr. Chas. Backstrom is delegate from the local Swedish Lutheran church and Mrs. J. Swedberg is a delegate to the meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of this conference, which society holds its meeting in connection with its regular meeting of the conference.

Mrs. Katherine Turney entertained about thirty five ladies Wednesday at her home on the N. Side. Dainty refreshments were served and all report a good time.

HOTELS ASSIST IN SAVING OF FOODS

High Prices Make It Necessary For Them To Do So

Milwaukee hotel men are doing their share to help along the country's food situation by eliminating extravagance in meals and by greatly lessening waste in their kitchens.

"Instead of the a la carte dinner being the rule, we have made it the exception and are generally serving table d'hôte plan," said Alvin P. Kletzch, manager of the Republican house, "because the latter means less waste in foodstuffs. Where formerly a person was allowed two meals, two salads and two vegetables, he is now confined to one. Formerly we served potatoes in six styles. We now, on account of the shortage, serve but two. The same kinds of meals are served and guests get just as much to eat; they merely have not the variety to choose from."

"It has become necessary to practice economy in hotel kitchens and in serving the food," said R. E. Munsche, manager of the Blatz hotel, "for prices have been raised so high in the food line, and we cannot raise prices accordingly."

"We are trying to meet the situation by cutting down our elaborate menus, instituting shorter ones and making meat prices fit the change. We are serving club lunches, which do not give the guests so large a selection, but a good meal for the price they want to pay. The present situation invokes a system of economy never before used, because the question of existing prices have never had to be contended with."

19. Johnny cake, Eddie Frederick first.

Mrs. Ira Smith, Miss Sybil Smith of Cassian and Miss Clorn of Starks were judges.

The Spelling Contest

The spelling contest was a very interesting test although it could have been better, had more of the pupils from the Braxton school entered.

First prize was awarded to Emma Wogland of the Cassian school, and second prize to Laverne Peterson of Braxton school. A short program was given after the contest.

We wish to thank the parents and people who helped to make the school fair and spelling contest a success. We cannot have better schools until parents take more interest in the children and schools. It is to their own interests for the parents to do so. Until that time our schools will cease to grow.

DENMARK.

Is O a number? The city of Ringkobing has an ordinance which says that the city council has a right to determine the number of restaurants to be permitted to keep open after the regular time fixed for closing in the evening. The city council did not permit any restaurant to extend the time of business beyond the regular time. The proprietor of Hotel Ringkobing thought he ought to be permitted to keep open after the others had closed, and he appealed to the cabinet, asking whether O is a "number" in this connection. The cabinet did not give a flat answer, but stated nevertheless that the city council is not in duty bound to fix the number of restaurants to be kept open after the regular time for closing. Thus the hotel keeper got only his pains for trouble, and he is still wondering whether O is a number.

The theater-goers in Rome complained last winter that the theater was not kept warm enough. The complaint was not wholly unfounded, for the temperature actually proved to be at the freezing point. The manager explained that the price of coal was so high that he could do no better. And then he went on: "The condition behind the scenes is simply idyllic. We can see the stars twinkle, and the moon shines down upon us. Through the walls we can see the snow covering the trees and bushes in the garden."

District Physician Rendtorff of Hammel wore a pair of stockings which attracted general attention last winter when he drove around calling on his many patients in the country. The stockings were ninety years old, and the yarn of which they had been knitted was almost as thick as a lead pencil. The doctor claimed that they were so warm that he would not exchange them for a foot-bag.

A hotel keeper in Copenhagen asked the food commission for permission to sell waste bread as chicken feed. This proved to the commission that bread was going to waste and steps were immediately taken to stop that leak.

Scandinavian copper coins are mysteriously disappearing. Sweden has begun to make iron coins, and Norway and Denmark will soon follow.

SWEDEN.

The Diphosphate Fertilizer company has asked the government for a bonus of $27,000 in order to be able to continue and complete the experiments already started for the purpose of finding a practical and workable method of producing fertilizers. The agricultural department has taken up the matter and explained what the experiments may eventually lead to. The situation is said to be this: Sweden is on the point of dispensing with the importation of raw materials for fertilizers, thereby saving $1,350,000 a year, not to mention the probability that Sweden may become an exporter on a large scale. Apatite is found in inexhaustible quantities at the Swedish mines, and the waterfalls will furnish power for preparing the raw material for the market. Indeed the department of agriculture is of the opinion that this particular fertilizer will come to the front as the most important fertilizer in northern Europe. The department therefore is strongly in favor of granting the desired bonus to the Diphosphate Fertilizer company. It seems a little strange that private capital is not ready to push the experiments.

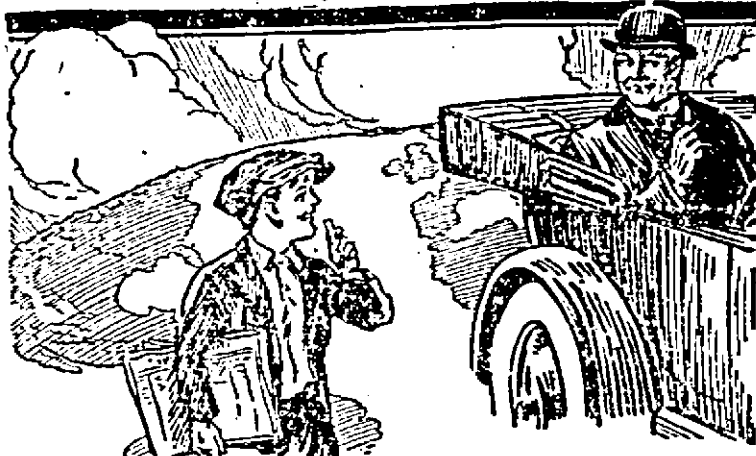

A monument is to be erected in memory of Jonas Jonasson, the first advocate of peace in Sweden. The monument is to be located at his home in Gullaboda, and will be dedicated May 12, the one-hundredth anniversary of his birth. Mr. Jonasson was the author of the first peace motion ever introduced in the Swedish riksdag, which occurred in 1820.

The military authorities of Austria-Hungary announced that after April 1st there would be no need for the Swedish doctors and nurses who had been serving at the hospitals of Vienna for nearly two years. There was plenty of room at the hospitals, and plenty of doctors to take care of the wounded.

The late C. A. Soderlund of Stockholm left a will donating about $250,000 to different institutions in the capital. The church council of the Katarina congregation is to manage about $200,000, to be known as "Carl August Soderlund's Donation Fund." Part of the interest is to be distributed as Christmas presents to poor people in the parish every year, and the rest is to be used for the benefit of poor invalids.

All the public schools of Kumla parish, Narke, were closed some time ago for lack of fuel to keep the school houses warm. Thirty-nine teachers and their classes thus had a vacation at an unexpected season. They are expected to finish their regular work next summer.

The Thulin airplane factory in Karlskrona is going to be extended, $500,000 having been added to the capital stock for this purpose. The new buildings are to be of five stories, and the plant will furnish work for several hundred persons.

The city council of Sundsvall added $23,000 to the regular salaries of the city officials on account of the high cost of living.

The income and property taxes for 1916 amounted to about $17,000,000, as against about $15,100,000 for the year 1915.

NORWAY.

A woman at Flaberg who was expecting a visit from the stork at no distant day, nevertheless ran the risk of driving to the grocery store. Being scared by a dog running across the road, the horse turned off from the road and ran among some pine trees. Soon the sled was thrown against the trunk of a tree, and the woman fell head foremost into the snow. The shock and the excitement were too much for the poor woman, and soon she was in travail. Two woodsmen who were in the neighborhood heard her moans and came to her assistance. There was no escape for them. For the first time in their lives—and most likely the last—they had to officiate as midwives. It proved to be no ordinary case, for the woman gave birth to two fine boys. Everything went well, and the mother and her twin boys are all doing far better than might have been expected.

The Bergen Aftenblad is making a canvass to find out the sentiment of the people of the city with regard to the proposition of establishing a medical faculty in Bergen. Prof. S. Laache of the University of Christiania has discussed the question as follows: "This proposition is not a new one, but the circumstances have made it decidedly practical at the present time. The moment for the realization of the plan is well chosen, coinciding with the reconstruction of the city after the fire of 1918. One feature of the proposition, namely, how to get instruction, will probably be furnished by the great outfit of the hospital. The scientific feature of the work will be attended to in connection with the proposed university in Bergen. I presuppose co-operation with the old university, and from this point of view I cheerfully extend a welcome to the new co-operator."

Ole Pans Ibsen, a brother of Henrik Ibsen, the poet, was buried at Fredriksværn. Many flags were at half mast, for Ole Pans was respected by everybody, and loved by many, especially among the children. There was a large concourse of people. Representatives from different organizations placed wreaths on the coffin. Among the floral tributes was one from his nephew, Dr. Sigurd Ibsen, the poet's son. The famous hymn, "The Great White Host," was sung at the grave.

Seamen saved from the torpedoed Danish ships Nazy and Saxo have reported to the Danish consulate in Bergen that the ships were sunk 42 miles from land and 4 miles outside the blockade zone. Reports from Vedsoe indicate that the Northern Norwegian coast services are seriously interrupted by the German blockade. The companies fear it may be necessary to stop coastal traffic unless the situation is relieved.

German submarines in large numbers have been built in Norway, according to a letter received in Boston from Christiania, which adds that Germany has given no orders to build submarines after May 1. The letter was written by O. C. Dahl of Christiania, a shipbuilder, to his nephew, Dr. Andrews P. Christian, a physician in the Black Bay district. It was dated February 10.

A Copenhagen dispatch says the Danish newspapers report that Americans are buying a majority of the Norwegian ships under construction in American shipyards. In the last few days Americans are said to have purchased more than 200,000 tons of such shipping.

The Central Bank of Norway, Christiania, donated $27,000 to the city of Christiania for distribution among the poor people. The money was distributed by four different organizations not connected with the city administration. This generosity was highly appreciated by the people of the capital.

The Christiania Deacons' Home had a large attendance last winter. Forty young men are taking a five-year course. About 80 graduates are serving as preceptors, sextons, nurses, etc.

Sell the Champion Cream Saver

THE NEW DE LAVAL

THE worth of a separator depends very largely upon its bowl. A separator bowl must be scientifically designed, properly constructed and perfectly balanced or it will not only lose some cream to begin with, but will soon get out of balance and lose a great deal more cream, besides wearing out the bearings and gears in a short time. That is why the average life of a cheap separator is only two or three years.

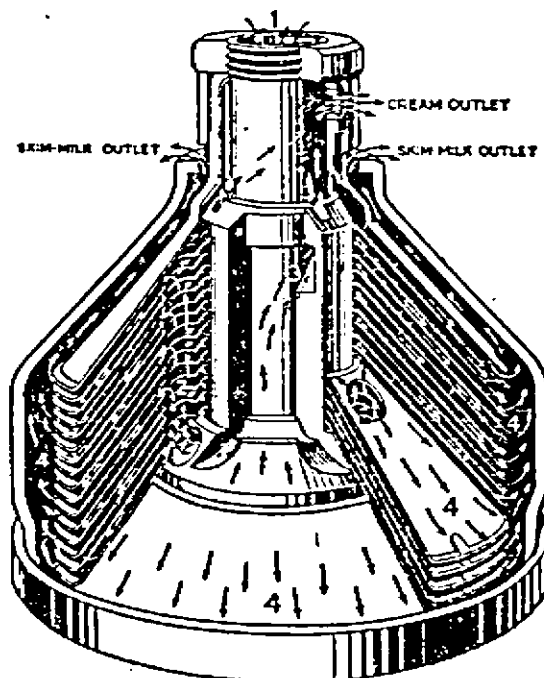

The bowl of the
is self-centering

The new De Laval bowl is so constructed and so balanced upon its detached spindle that it will run true and do perfect work even after the machine has been in use for a long time.

The De Laval bowl has always been noted for its close skimming under all conditions, but the NEW De Laval patented milk-distributing device, together with the larger discs, makes the new De Laval bowl an even closer skimmer than the old one and gives considerably greater capacity into the bargain.

The new De Laval bowl has been called by people who ought to know, "the greatest improvement in cream separator construction in the last thirty years."

Come in and see one of the new machines. We'll be glad to explain it to you in all its details, and we know you will be interested in examining the new bowl, the bell speed-indicator, and the many other improvements.

THE NEW NORTH

The New North Printing Co.
Entered at the Postoffice at Rhinelander, Wis., as Second Class Mail Matter
APRIL 26, 1917

"For the cause that lacks assistance;
For the wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

WANTED—Boy to learn printers' trade at New North office.

While the masses are studying how to increase production and live within their means the steel corporation is dividing the biggest quarterly dividend million it ever had, fifteen million dollars.

The county officers are well aware of where Clerk of Court E. C. Sturdevant is. If they were not, they are now after receiving the splendid grape fruit this week. All sent thanks to Mr. Sturdevant for his remembrance.

There is much newspaper talk of a new measure to cut off the manufacture of liquor that the grains may be converted into food stuffs. Over a hundred million bushels of grain are used yearly for the manufacture of liquors. This would feed many million people. Why not begin to save at the right place?

CONSCRIPT WEALTH FIRST
"Before we yield to the conscription of life we demand the conscription of property for this war."

This statement was made by State Senator Helen Ring Robinson, Colorado.

"We voting women in the west have been greatly disturbed over the war department's suggestion that our boys shall be drafted forth with for this war," said Mrs. Robinson. "We are willing to give them yes; but we are not willing to see them reduced to the level of the European conscripts."

"The superfluous millions of Rockefeller, for instance, should be conscripted for the country's use ahead of the life of the young lad whose life is all he has. The west will certainly oppose the conscription of men unless accompanied by the conscription of money."

CONSCRIPT LARGE PROFITS

Perhaps a conscription bill should pass; we rather think it should, but a conscription of great surplus wealth and large profits should be legal too. There is a great impression in this country of large fortunes that personal profits should be the property of the individual which is wrong. It is our industrial system that brings this large fortune about. If so the government has the right to control it. We believe the surplus in large incomes should pay the war obligations. The laborer and the small business man are burdened through the war; why should a certain class of business men actually be getting richer while this privation is going on? We should all do our best to help at this time, but we should insist on all members of society doing this.

While the majority are depriving themselves and struggling to make the best of conditions make the surplus of big incomes pay the heavy war obligations. No man or class of men should expect to make undue profits from the war.

RAILROAD RATES AND RAIDS

On the plea that the eight hour law for railroad workers will increase operating expenses the companies are demanding a 15 percent increase in freight rates.

Fifteen per cent increase in freight rates will be 30 per cent increase in the cost of living by the time it gets to the tables and weekly bills of the workers and producers.

That would mean that the railroad workers would have to ask for another increase in wages, otherwise they would be worse off than before.

Whereupon the railroad companies would pry up rates again and repeat the old situation.

The kind of thing has already happened twice in our history and is likely to happen again and again.

Every increase of wages in either the railroad or coal industry (having about the same ownership) is followed by a much greater increase in price to the public.

Forty per cent of the railroad stock in the United States stands in the names of 3,000 corporations, firms and individuals.

When these come to be examined for duplications it appears that 40 per cent of our railroad stock is in the hands of two groups of financiers in New York City, who own or control two-thirds of our important mileage.

It is for their benefit that freight rates are to be increased again. Not directly for the sake of increased dividends but for the sake of operations in railroad securities, which furnish the greater part of their profits.

We give and give to these influences, tribute upon tribute. Would it not be reasonable to ask now and then what we ever get from them?—Wisconsin State Journal.

The arguments of the administration on the conscription bill are now going on at Washington.

The opponents to conscription take great heart in the fact that Speaker Clark opposes the administration conscription bill.

Senator McKellar, author of an amendment protesting call for 400,000 volunteers before conscription is resorted to, declared that conscription equalizes the war burden.

"I believe the German Kaiser is the greatest criminal on the face of the earth today," said Senator McKellar. "I want this war, in the quickest way, to rid the world of this despot. It may be September or October before arrangements for this draft bill are completed, and then another ten or twelve months to train our troops."

"Can't you see what a small body of our citizens the burden falls on under this bill?" he asked. "It would fall upon less than 3 per cent of our population, and these mere boys, drafted to fight our war for us. It isn't universal service, its partial service."

Representative Caldwell of New York, a member of the house committee, who formerly opposed the draft plan, said he now was ready to vote for it because he thought all the resources of the country should be thrown into the war without delay.

Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin declared the draft would do more than the volunteer system to "win this war, in the shortest possible time, with the least sacrifice of life." He said he believes his constituents would approve that stand, but even if he believed otherwise his course would be the same as in war time, when the existence of the republic was in danger, his first duty was to his country and not to his constituents.

"We must fight autocracy in Germany to preserve democracy in America," he said. "If the imperial German government is victorious now, then we may look forward to the possible destruction of our liberties here. I had hoped that our war with Germany, so far as fighting is concerned, might be confined to the sea. I still hope so, but we must be prepared to go further and do whatever may be necessary to win the war."

IMPETUS

The declaration of a state of war with Germany has given an impetus to individual management that is remarkable. The recognition of a food shortage and the prospect of a much more serious shortage in the future has quickened the foresight of the American people is a manner that is really wonderful. Moreover this aroused foresight of the entire population has fostered a spirit of cooperation in national, state, and community affairs that is a pleasure to contemplate. All over the land, in every city and community there are numerous examples of owners of vacant lots and unused tracts of land who are offering the use of their possessions free of charge for the common good. Organizations of men from various walks of life are meeting in conference, giving their time freely and willingly, planning how most effectively to mobilize the full resources of their respective communities, making definite plans for providing seed for those who are anxious to plant are without means to provide the necessary seed. Unversity men and experts in various lines of attainment are cooperating in a most enthusiastic and unselfish manner, without pay, all for the purpose of serving their country, and in a wider sense humanity. If we have thought the American people too careless, pleasure-loving people, wholly given over to selfishness we have not judged them aright. The present crisis has demonstrated, and will demonstrate in the months that are to come, that the American people are sound and wholesome at heart, and that they are philanthropic in spirit. They are a great people, not merely in material accomplishment, but in the humanitarian spirit that prevails generally in the rank and file of the people. The present crisis has given an impetus to some of the most worthwhile things of our national life. We cannot but believe that it is certain to result in permanent good. We need more co-operation than we have had in the past. This spirit should become permanent, after the war shall have become a thing of the past. Habits of industry are a good thing all the while. Every vacant lot should be filled not merely this year but every year. People should give freely of their time in the interests of philanthropic movements not only in this time of national need but all the while.

Mining in Biblical Times.

The operations for mining as known to the early Hebrews are given in the twenty-eighth chapter of Job. The description is highly poetical. In Egypt the mines for gold were worked by groups of convicts and captives in fetters. The harder rocks were broken by fire, after which picks and chisels were used. The miners were quite naked; as are the negroes of today who work in the diamond mines of South Africa.

Jack London, before he reached the goal of one of the most popular writers of the day, combined the efforts of half a dozen men in various kinds of work ranging all the way from a tramp to a sea captain. Louise Closser Hale had histrionic aspirations, and her familiarity with stage life is due to the fact that she was an actress before she became a writer.

"You say you want to marry my daughter. Have you spoken to her?" "Yes, sir," replied the young man, "and have gained her consent." "Well, if she has said 'Yes,' that settles it. Anything I might say or do wouldn't have the slightest influence." Then the young man went home and wondered if he were too young to marry such a girl.

Earthquakes.

There is no limit, except the size of the continent, to the distance of the origins of earthquakes from the ocean. Earthquakes occur in the middle of Asia, and probably the strongest earthquakes on record in the United States occurred in the southeastern part of Missouri in the years 1811 and 1812. There is less information as to the altitude, but it is probable that earthquakes occur very high in mountain ranges. A very severe earthquake on July 6, 1912, occurred in the neighborhood of Mount McKinley, Alaska, apparently at a very high altitude. No exact figures can be given.

TO THE FARMERS OF ONEIDA COUNTY

The Oneida County Council of Defense has been organized, with the following officers: Ira E. Smith, Chairman, Albert J. O'Melia, Secretary.

Its object is to work with the State Council of Defense and to help in every way possible towards preparedness in the great national crisis through which we are passing.

One of its principal objects will be to conserve and increase the food supply. This circular is sent to you just now for the special purpose of providing for the proper distribution of seed potatoes and other kinds of seed that may be needed. The undersigned committee has this matter in charge, and you can aid them in their work by reporting at once just how much seeds of various kinds you may need, and just what excess of potatoes and other seeds you may have for sale.

Hasten your reply, as every day's delay is likely to add to the cost of the seeds. If you receive this circular through a school teacher, rush your reply to her at once. If the circular comes to you from other sources, mail your reply to Mr. Juday. DO NOT DELAY.

It is the intention of this committee to endeavor to furnish seeds to every farmer in our county who is in need of them. You will assist the committee greatly in financing this proposition if you will state whether you are ready to pay cash for the seeds that you need, or will be obliged to ask for credit. If credit is needed, state how much. RUSH YOUR REPLY to W. D. Juday, Agricultural Representative, Rhinelander, Wis.

W. D. JUDAY, Chairman
E. A. FORBES,
F. A. LOWELL,
E. O. BROWN,

Committee.

The following suggestions by Agricultural Representative Juday should be of service to the people in their planting.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

By W. D. Juday

That each grower, as far as possible, put in a series of diversified food crops.

Peas and beans are foods high in protein and make good substitutes for the high priced meats. Both crops can be grown well here. The peas can be planted any time after May 1 as they are not affected by the light frosts. Beans are more tender and should not be planted until May 20-25.

Carrots are a splendid vegetable and no family should raise less than enough to keep them over the winter. They are hardy, can be sown most any time after May 1 and yield big returns.

We can grow no sorer crop than rutabagas. They can be sown any time up to last of June. It is best to sow this crop in drills.

An early variety of sweet corn (Golden Bantam preferred) is also an excellent food crop to grow. We can can or dry the surplus and thus be assured of another excellent winter vegetable.

The cost of seed per acre is an important item in the growing of each of the above named crops and their food value is great.

Some of our best soil this year should be planted to the potato. This will be our cash crop and we should aim to make our yields per acre large so as to materially cut down cost of production. We know we can get good crops with potatoes. Put the crop in early and tend it better than you ever have before.

Buckwheat is a good cash crop as well as food crop to sow on land we have brought under cultivation late.

PLANT A GARDEN

Bullets Without Bread Will Never Win This War

Soldiers must eat as well as fight. Men, women, and children at home also must eat.

PLANT A GARDEN

America at peace faced a shortage of food and soaring prices of the common necessities of life, such as bread, beans, milk, and potatoes. We must double the amount of food raised if we are to meet the present emergency and supply the increased demand from abroad.

READ THINK ACT
In the face of war, government and state reports show a large shortage of food products. There is actual danger that we shall be facing a real famine before the fall of 1917. The winter wheat is practically killed, potatoes and beans are very scarce, and prices are almost prohibitive.

Unless the Commercial Clubs and business men of Wisconsin towns, thereby increasing the total take a hand and help increase the supply of food in our cities and volume of food raised in the United States in 1917, the situation will be serious before winter sets in. Will YOU help?

First, plant a garden yourself.

Second, urge your neighbor to do likewise.

Third, potatoes, beans, carrots, onions, turnips, corn, beets, and tomatoes are easily raised and are available for both summer and winter use.

Fourth, plant only what you can care for well.

Fifth, be sure to cultivate your garden.

Sixth, raise a better and bigger crop than your neighbor.

Seventh, be a good finisher as well as a good starter.

It is your patriotic duty to respond to this urgent necessity. Will you do it?

Germ Disease Spreaders

The child apparently merely "out of sorts" may be indirectly responsible for causing serious illness and an occasional death among his playmates and schoolmates. This constitutes one of the greatest dangers that has been made concerning the spread and hence the prevention of contagious disease. The modern health officer fears as anything else the danger that lies in the mild cases.

These are the cases that do not attract any particular attention on the part of the mother or the school teacher. The child may be noticed to be not quite up to normal but still not sick enough to be kept out of or sent home from school. And yet the mild or unsuspected case is just as capable of causing a terrible form of the disease as is the terrible form to repeat itself.

From the public point of view the child with a mild case is much more dangerous because he can run about and spread his germs among all of his playmates. The severe case is kept in bed and consequently does not have the contacts which permit so easy spread of the disease. Another comparative recent discovery that everybody should know about is that the contagious diseases of childhood are dangerous from the beginning of attack.

The modern method of handling epidemics, therefore, is to secure the services of competent inspectors whose business it is to see early, and to get the full significance of the little signs that are likely to pass unnoticed on the part of less experienced or otherwise preoccupied people. Specially trained public health nurses are common. They are secured for this service because, at the prevailing rates of compensation, a higher grade of service can thus be secured per dollar cost than can be from well trained and competent physicians.

When the cases have been weeded out and quarantined, and the suspects are kept under observation till they are proved to be "innocent", the epidemic promptly ceases. The measures which control epidemics will prevent them. Eventually, we will prevent; in the words of the well-known flour advertisement "why not now?"

THIS TIME TO BUY FARM

Shows Reasons For Undertaking Now Cheap Land, Low Interest, High Prices

There is a strong suspicion that food of all kinds is going to be exceedingly high this year and for two or three years to come. During that period wages are likely to decline, at some time or other, and a good many men will be out of employment.

Food, however, is going to remain high. Europe will have to buy from us even after the war is over, because all their food supplies, animals, etc., will be exhausted before the end of the war comes. People of the United States will have to raise food to take care of themselves and to sell in Europe besides.

Fortunes are going to be made this year on the farms.

The question is now, are you going to get your share of this prosperity or are you going to continue working for wages that are going to decline as soon as the war ceases?

It looks as though you ought to "get into the game", doesn't it?

The other day three car loads of potatoes near here were sold for $1500.00 cash. There were 1800 bushels in the three cars and this could ordinarily be raised on a 9 acres of ground such as we have in Oneida county, without very much fertilization. With the use of commercial fertilizers this amount could be and has been raised on less than 5 acres of ground. On this basis the yield would be about $900 per acre.

But take the AVERAGE ground, ordinarily wild land, clear it and stump and cultivate it, and off the first plowing get even 100 bushels per acre, would at present prices yield $250.00 per acre. The land does not yield its biggest crops the first year. But the second year, with oats and clover, and the third year with clover alone, and then plow, in the second crop of fertilizer, this is when the land yields the best.

Still, a start has to be made some time and this is the best time you ever saw for that. Anything you can raise will yield big money. You cannot make any mistake on that.

There is a very general impression that lands in northern Wisconsin are going to have a ready sale this year. The lumbermen, who own large tracts of cut-over land here are ready to meet customers and offer their holdings on a liberal payment plan.

Dynamite will be for sale in Rhineland for land clearing at wholesale prices this year.

Exhaustive tests have been made of all the stump pullers in the market, and certain ones are found more efficient than others and these are recommended to settlers. Drawings for stump pullers, that can be built for a few dollars on your own lands, are furnished on request.

Money can now be secured by settlers, either from the U. S. Government or from loan companies or from private parties, for use in clearing campaigns. Advice of any nature is furnished by the Agricultural Representative from his office in the court house.

A bill is before the legislature to authorize the employment by the county of men to clear up five acres per year for anyone owning lands who is unable to clear it himself. This, in fact, is a loan by the state of the amount of money necessary to give him a start. The settler can do the work himself or he can hire it done and the state pays the bill.

Now these are the inducements we can offer you, cheap land, cheap money, assistance in stump pulling and clearing, cheap dynamite, and on top of that, high prices for what ever you can raise.

Isn't it worth while to try this farming business this year, in Oneida county?

Remember, potatoes, clover and dairy cattle are our principal crops. We can raise all kinds of grain, we raise lots of corn, especially for silage, we raise beets, onions, bagas, and all other principal crops. But our farmers make their money on the three first mentioned.

You wrote me some time ago regarding land, but you have not bought any of it yet. Suppose you make your plans to be here about April 15 to look over some of my bargains.

If you are going to accomplish anything this year, you can't start too early. Don't put this off till spring or summer. If you are going to do any farming this year, and this is the year that you ought to do it.

If there are any questions that you want me to answer, don't be afraid to ask them.

C. P. CROSBY.

WAR BRIDEGROOMS

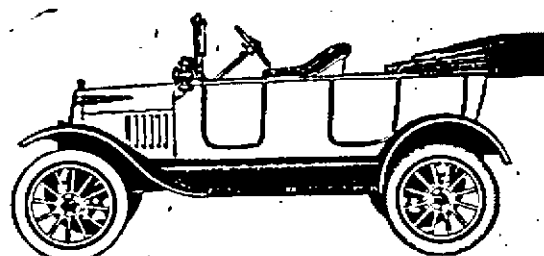

The war department announces that men who have married since our declaration of war will not be exempt from military service.

That is, they will not be exempt if the president's military plan is adopted.

But if it is defeated by the partisans of the volunteer system, every man who has married to avoid service will be exempt in spite of the war department.

That is the beauty of the volunteer system. Every shirker is exempt.—Exchange.

SWAT THE FLY

The most effective time to fight is before the enemy is ready. Why not open a swatting campaign before the fly is ready? That would give a strategic advantage which would keep the pest in check.

One can hardly imagine anything more desirable than a flyless community. Of course, it is hardly possible to eliminate all flies, but experiments have shown that flies can be eliminated to such an extent that they will be hardly noticeable.

Flies breed in manure and other animal and vegetable waste. By eliminating these breeding places or by treating them with substances which will kill the fly larvae, flies can be almost entirely eliminated from any farm or community.

By starting early, any community can practically eliminate the fly nuisance but if the fly is given an opportunity to propagate, extermination is well nigh impossible. The trouble with most anti-fly campaigns is that they are not started until the flies begin to give trouble. Then it is too late for effective work.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To induce a canary to take a bath sprinkle a few seeds upon the water. This added attraction will make the bath become a habit with the little fellow.

To keep flowers fresh, place a pinch of bicarbonate of soda in the water before putting them into a vase.

To make glassware clear and sparkling, add a little washing blue to the soapsuds when washing.

If ink is spilled on the carpet or table cover, cover it immediately with salt as it absorbs the ink.

Powdered alum added to ordinary stove blacking adds to its brilliancy.

Oxalic acid and javelle water are excellent for removing ink stains. New tinware will never rust if greased with a little fresh lard and baked in the oven before it is used.
